

The Academic Integrity Office: Helping our Students to claim, regain and maintain their academic integrity.

When a student is formally reported to the Academic Integrity Officer for an alleged act of academic dishonesty, they are entitled to due process. The Office of Academic Integrity conducts formal case review (investigation) and provides findings and recommendations to all parties. An academic integrity case review will also include:

Counseling and advisement

- Orientation to the CUNY/College Academic Integrity process.
- Guidance in identifying and avoiding the triggers that lead to academic integrity violations.
- Tips for generating and maintaining action plans to prevent academic dishonesty:
 - Time management and supportive learning habits.
 - How to seek help and give help without compromising your integrity.
 - How to talk through AI concerns with your instructors, advisors, classmates, teammates, study pals and project buddies.

Support and referral to service

- Writing, Math Centers and ESL support services for strengthening writing, editing and organizational skills.
- Library Services to develop strong research and source evaluation techniques
- Counseling Services and Academic Advisement for support when overwhelmed.
- Accessibility Services for special accommodations.
